THE KIND OF WIFE I WANT.

BY AMICUS.

I WANT A WIFE that, first of all, is pious, devoted and true; That always believes religion's call, And what God says will do.

I want a wife with judgment clear; With comprehensive mental power: A mind that has no dread or fear, In conversations social hour.

I want a wife whom I may tell Each thrilling tale of pleasant thought, The things we need, that great and small, With which our earthly life is fraught.

I want a wife, because 'tis true, That many little things of life— Such things as give us pleasure, too, Are lost to all but man and wife.

I want a wife with trusting heart, Ready to tell me all her care; That in each other's mutual love, We may live like a magic wand.

I want a wife who gentle hands, Can smooth the brow and calm the mind; Whose countenance like a magic wand, For every ill a cure can find.

I want a wife with winning grace, With glossy hair and sparkling eyes; With pleasant and expressive face, Whose spirit lives in amiable lies.

I want a wife with earnest heart; Who, in the rugged path of life, Will brave and joy and strength impart, As no one can except a wife.

I want a wife, on whose fond breast, Whose storms of worldly trouble cease, My aching heart will find its rest, My anxious heart will find its ease.

I want a wife that I can trust, With every plan, and hope and fear, And when, upon me, doubts are thrust, To leave safe counsel always near.

I want a wife—a loving wife, Whose heart is true, firm and true; Then I can meet the storms of life, And rise above the harm they do.

I want a wife with pleasant smile, And gentle words to meet me; In loving arms enfold me, And the sweetest kisses greet me.

I want a wife—no words possessing, Whom with love's enrapturing passion; One that always meets me smiling, In the most endearing fashion.

I want a wife—a loving wife, Whose heart is true, firm and true; Then I can meet the storms of life, And rise above the harm they do.

I want a wife with pleasant smile, And gentle words to meet me; In loving arms enfold me, And the sweetest kisses greet me.

THE OHIO DEMOCRACY.

BY AMICUS.

The Democrats of the Buckeye State assembled in Columbus on the 25th of July, 1877. The attendance was very large and the enthusiasm unbounded.

R. M. Bishop was nominated on the sixth ballot for Governor, and Jabez W. Fitch was nominated by acclamation for Lieutenant Governor.

THE RESOLUTIONS.
The committee on resolutions submitted the following, which was unanimously adopted:

The Democratic party in State convention assembled renews its pledges of devotion to the Union and Constitution with the amendments. It declares as essential to the preservation of free government faithful adherence to the following principles:

Strict construction and home rule. Supremacy of civil over military power. Separation of church and State. Equality of all citizens before the law. Liberty of individual action untrammelled by summary laws.

Maintenance and perfecting of the common school system. Perseverance in the issues now pending before the people.

Resolved, first—That we look upon the inauguration of R. B. Hayes to the high office of President of the United States, in spite of a majority of the electoral and popular votes given by the people to Samuel J. Tilden, as the most dangerous encroachment on popular rights that has ever been attempted in this or any other free country. A repetition of fraud will not be tolerated.

Destruction of the industries of the country and the pauperism of labor are the fruits of the vicious laws enacted by the Republican party.

As a means of relieving distressed portions of the community and removing the greater emergency complained of in business circles, we demand the immediate repeal of the redemption act.

Fourth—That we denounce as an outrage upon the rights of the people, the enactment of the Republican measure for the redemption of silver, and demand the passage of a law which shall restore to silver its monetary power.

Fifth—That we favor the return of greenback currency as the best paper money we have ever had, and declare against any further contraction.

Sixth—We congratulate the country upon the acceptance by the present Administration of the constitutional and pacific policy of local self-government in the South so long advocated by the Democratic party, and which has brought peace and harmony to that section of the Union.

Ninth—We favor the issue by the general Government alone of all circulating medium, whether paper or metallic, to be always of equal tender and inconvertible.

Tenth—That we condemn acts of the Federal Administration in using regular troops of the United States to interfere with the elections and other political affairs of the States as unconstitutional, unlawful and unjustifiable, and destructive of the rights of the people and the Union.

Eleventh—We recommend the tickets this day formed by the convention to the favorable consideration and support of all citizens of the State.

The following nominations were also made:

Judge J. W. Okey, of Franklin, for Supreme Court in the State, using regular troops of the United States to interfere with the elections and other political affairs of the States as unconstitutional, unlawful and unjustifiable, and destructive of the rights of the people and the Union.
